Inventor Profile

Name: Patricia Lo

Background: From the Aboriginal tribe

Reason you became an inventor: I became an inventor because it is better than teasing my brother all day.

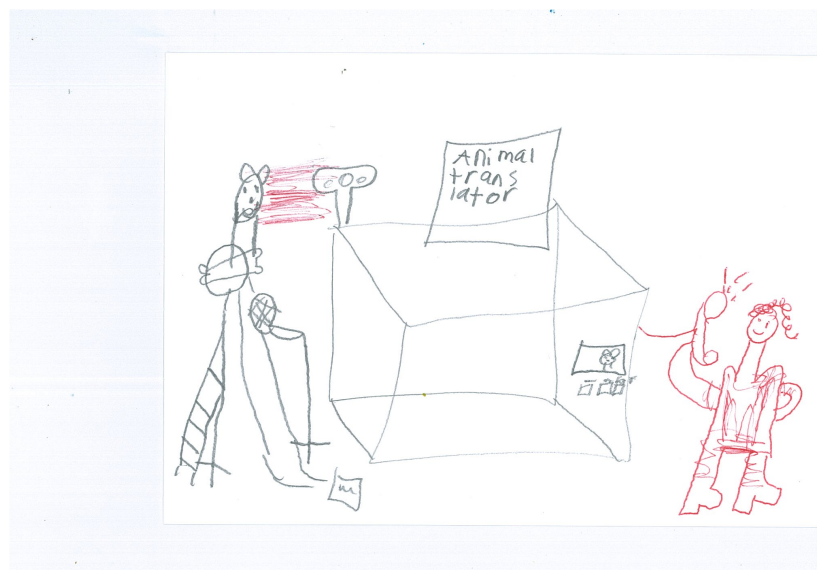

My invention is important because: Sometimes I wonder what animals say.

Something unusual about me is: I was raised by dingoes and I learnt to speak 'dingo'. This is why I created my invention. Now other people can speak it too.

The Animal Translator

The reason I invented the animal translator is because I know how to speak dingo and I want to teach other people how to speak dingo.

It works like this-I talk into one side and the animal answers.

He says some things which I understand and I want to let everyone know what it is.

The translator is a box the animals sit down on a chair and they roar inside a microphone and it comes out the other end in English. It sounds like an Aussie- it has an Aussie accent.

The translator machine is blue and you can buy it from The Translator Shop. I plan to make a lot of money and make a google app for dingo-aussie translation.
