1.1 What personal information do we collect and store?

- (d) So that we can administer and promote our services and products, we may ask for personal details such as your name, address, telephone number, email address and any communications you have with us, such as special requests or requests for information. Some examples of where we may need these details are to:

  - (iii) process and fulfil orders for products from the Martian Embassy and Gift Shop;
  - (iv) process requests to hire our venues;
  - (v) respond to your comments or questions;

- (f) Generally, we collect personal information directly from the individuals concerned, or if you are a student then from your school, parent or guardian. However, in some cases, we may collect personal information from other third parties. If we do so, we will take reasonable steps to notify you that we are collecting your personal information as required by the NPPs.

- (g) Occasionally, we may take photos of our students and volunteers participating in our workshops and programs. We may use these photos to help us promote the work that we do by publishing them on our website or in our promotional materials. We will seek your consent, or if you are a student then the consent of your parent, guardian or school teacher, before using a photo that identifies you for these purposes.
- (h) If you are a volunteer, we may with your permission store copies of certain documents (including details of your working with children checks and identity documents) that we provide to schools and community organisations that you volunteer to work with.
- (i) We take measures to ensure your personal information is protected from unauthorised access and disclosure, loss, misuse, interference, or alteration. We also take measures to destroy or permanently de-identify personal information when it is no longer required. The types of measures we take vary with the type of information concerned, and the manner in which it is collected and stored.
- (j) You have no obligation to provide any information requested by us, and there may be circumstances in which you can deal with us anonymously or using a pseudonym. However, if you choose to withhold requested information, we may not be able to enrol you in our programs, permit you to participate as a volunteer, or provide you with the services and products that depend on the collection of that information.

1.2 How is personal information used?

- (a) The personal information that we ask for is generally used to administer our workshops and programs, process your donations, or to provide our services and products to you.   - (iv) medical practitioners and health workers to ensure the health and safety of students; and
  - (v) external service providers to help us perform functions relating to our operations.
- (c) We may also disclose personal information if we are required to do so by law, or if the disclosure is permitted under the Privacy Act.
